

UNIVERSITÄT BAMBERG

Graduate Program

'Markets and Social Systems in Europe'

The Graduate Program of the University of Bamberg, together with the German Research Foundation (DFG), wants to encourage outstanding students to pursue up to three years of doctoral research at the University.

The goal of the Graduate Program is the interdisciplinary analysis of the development and changes of markets and social systems in the context of global competition, European regulation and national traditions. The Program welcomes research proposals originating from the fields of sociology, political science, social policy (economics), finance and international management.

During the first round the University of Bamberg, together with the German Research Foundation (DFG), offers to outstanding graduates of sociology, political science, business administration and economics with a strong research interest in European and global developments and their impact on national societies. The doctoral grants (approx. Euro 1,000.- per month plus Euro 103,- for equipment) are initially awarded for two years with the option for extension to another year. The Graduate Program starts October, 1st 2008. All applicants are requested to choose Bamberg (D) as their place of residence.

10 grants for Doctoral Students

Applicants shall apply in German or English by email. Please notice that all certificates and diplomas should be compiled into one attached file.

Please send your application, consisting of a) curriculum vitae, b) a research proposal (approx. 3 pages), c) copies of certificates and diplomas to:
